The above totals include a limited number of cases involved in the Judicial Inquiry now before the Kansas Supreme Court, however most are not included in this report as necessary records for further action are not currently available. The above numbers do not include cases where prosecution was not recommended due to conduct involving voluntary activity between two similarly-aged teens where force, coercion, or threat is not present.

Summary of Investigations and Referrals by The Office of Attorney General Phill Kline to local law enforcement authorities of activity that resulted in live births

- Ages of the mothers included 30 children ages 10 to 13.
- Average age of the fathers was seven years older than the mothers.
- Generally, the younger the mother – the older the male.
- The investigation includes 17 cases where the father is “unknown”. Of these cases all but one involves a mother who is 13 years of age or less.
- Referrals include 28 possible cases of rape, 25 cases of Aggravated Indecent Liberties with a Child and five possible violations of the Romeo and Juliet provisions of law.

Records obtained by the Office of Attorney General Phill Kline led to the identification of 62 “live birth” situations that merited further review to determine whether Kansas criminal statutes had been violated. Of those:
